1857 Civil War Cartridge Pouch.....#Bag-US-1857

This reproduction Civil War cartridge pouch is made of heavy black leather, with a brass stud locking the flap in place. This cartridge pouch has the dimensions of the 1857 pattern, about 8" wide and 2" deep, with an inside rain flap, and an outside flap covering the box. This pouch includes two tin cartridge boxes that present your paper cartridges for easy loading. The tin trays lift out, revealing storage for additional .58 or .69 caliber paper cartridges underneath. Vertical and horizontal loops on back allow it to be worn on your shoulder strap, or on your belt. This is the correct accessory for your .58 caliber or .69 caliber Civil War musket by Springfield, Enfield, Colt, Remington "Zouave", or other contract muskets.

Civil War era Brass Bugle ..... #Bugle

Everyone asleep in camp will jump to attention when you blow this bugle at dawn. This replica military bugle is about 12 x 6" with a 4" bell. The separate mouthpiece is retained by a chain.

Hand made, imported, solid brass, hand polished, it has the burnished patina and appearance of an original antique bugle, easily mistaken for the real thing.
