Mounting Arkansas Whet Stones:
Misnamed “soft” or “hard”, sometimes called “white” or “black”, the natural abrasive grain structure or “grit” of the stone determines the cutting speed, not the color.
“Soft” Arkansas stones are medium fine grit. “Hard” stones are very fine grit, very slow cutting. Mounted to cedar blocks, with illustrated instructions, Novaculite is a compact quartzose rock of almost pure silica. Cut with diamond saws, in the Ouachita Mountains of Arkansas, this stone may be 340 million years old.
Hard Arkansas stone is very fine grained, slow cutting, to finish whetting an already sharp knife or tool, to a razor sharp edge. Supplied in a wooden box with a fitted lid.
#Whet-4-H  2 x 4” hard, very fine cut  only $16.50
#Whet-6-H  2 x 6” hard, very fine cut  only $27.99

Soft Arkansas stone is our most popular grade, faster cutting medium fine grit, used by wood-carvers, sportsmen, butchers, and commercial sharpeners. Set in a wooden box with a fitted lid.
#Whet-4-S  2 x 4” soft, medium fine cut  only $11.99
