This Southern Mountain longrifle style buttplate has a distinctive diamond shape, when viewed from the butt end. This dictates the shape of the buttstock, making a truly graceful longrifle. Patterned after a antique we suggest our similar Southern Mountain wax cast triggerguard #TG-SM-1-B to compliment this buttplate. Yes, this buttplate can be bent cold, if necessary. Available in wax cast steel or brass.

Buttplate, brass or nickel silver ..... #BP-E-39-B or S

A tiny buttplate from a late Ohio style percussion rifle. The comb retains the octagon theme of an earlier period, which may be rounded for use on later guns. This tiny buttplate does not have the extreme crescent shape found on some sand cast buttplates. It is a comfortable choice for a reduced scale halfstock or fullstock rifle.

#BP-E-39-S buttplate, sand cast nickel silver only $15.50
